Coraluppi and Pompa honored for collaboration industry impact

Monroeville, Pa., January 3, 2008 – Compunetix is pleased to announce that Dr. Giorgio Coraluppi and Mr. Gerard Pompa are the proud recipients of TeleSpan's 2007 Pace Award, which honors collaboration professionals who have a definitive positive impact on shaping the industry. Dr. Giorgio Coraluppi, President and CEO, founded the Compunetix group locally in 1968 and has fused his passion for the technology of cooperation with extensive electronics expertise to establish the most innovative voice conferencing manufacturer in the industry. Mr. Gerard Pompa, Vice-President and Division Manager for the organization's Communications Systems Division, has acted as a visionary for the future of collaboration, leading the product development and building relationships that have helped pave the way to Compunetix's decades of success.

The Pace Award, announced annually by Elliot Gold's TeleSpan (www.compunetix.com/ix/csd/new/Pace.pdf), is reserved for teleconferencing professionals making more than a decade of contributions to the industry. As stated by Mr. Gold, "Compunetix has remained independent and on the horizon of conference service providers (CSPs) around the globe, who have built a voice conferencing industry generating north of $2.6 billion a year using the Compunetix products."
