FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Gerard Pompa of Compunetix Joins IMCCA Board

Industry group taps executive in collaboration space

Monroeville, Pa., August 14, 2008 – Compunetix, Inc. today announced that Mr. Gerard Pompa, Vice President and General Manager of the company's Communications Systems Division, has been selected to participate in the Interactive Multimedia & Collaborative Communications Alliance (IMCCA) as a member of the Board of Directors. The IMCCA is a non-profit industry association resolved to strengthen and grow the overall conferencing and collaboration market by providing impartial information and education about people-to-people communication and collaboration technology and applications.

Mr. Pompa has been involved in the collaboration industry for nearly 20 years, and represents a knowledgeable resource on the trends and future of the marketplace and a regular presenter at industry forums. Mr. Pompa was recently featured as a speaker at this InfoComm 2008, held at the Las Vegas Convention Center on June 18, 2008. During the IMCCA's annual Lunch and Learn session, Mr. Pompa participated with a panel of senior executives and addressed the latest issues in collaborative conferencing.

"I am honored to be included in an organization that is well known for shaping and driving this industry," commented Mr. Gerard Pompa, Compunetix Vice President and General Manager of the company's Communications Systems Division. "I look forward to contributing to the way collaboration and conferencing is utilized by end users and professionals in business today, and forecasting and affecting how it will be utilized in the future."

"Mr. Pompa brings expertise, knowledge, and a passion for the industry that is backed by a company that boasts some of the most innovative collaboration solutions in the marketplace. We are pleased to have Mr. Pompa join us as a member of the Board," notes Ms. Carol Zelkin, Executive Director of the IMCCA.
